

Cinco de Mayo means "the fifth of May" in Mexican Spanish. It is a holiday that is celebrated in the town of Puebla, Mexico. It is also celebrated in the United States. The date marks a victory the Mexican Army won over the French in Puebla. The French were expected to win but the Mexicans won the day. Cinco de Mayo is a more popular holiday in the U.S. than in Mexico.