

On a cool spring day in April of the year 1910, William Howard Taft became the first US president to start the baseball season by throwing out the first pitch. He had come to League Park in Washington, D.C. to see the Senators play the A's. His tradition has carried on every since. What other baseball traditions do you know about?